Giulio Mattioli

Researcher in Sustainable Transport

Giulio Mattioli is Research Fellow in Sustainable Transport at the Sustainability Research Institute and the Institute of Transport Studies at the University of Leeds (UK). His research interests include car dependence, transport disadvantage, and the barriers to socially and environmentally sustainable transport. He has recently led a research project on transport affordability, funded by the British Engineering and Physical Sciences Research Council. He is managing guest editor of a forthcoming special issue of the academic journal 'Transport Policy' on 'Household transport costs, economic stress and vulnerability, at the interface between mobility, domestic energy and residential location'.
