

Call for applications “New Voices”

Mobile Lives Forum

The Mobile Lives Forum is launching a second call for participation in its New Voices award for outstanding MA and PhD work on mobility.

The Mobile Lives Forum’s research focus is on the role of mobility in contemporary lifestyles and sustainability transitions (please note that this excludes research focusing solely on the technical aspects of transport infrastructures - i.e. submissions focusing on transport from an engineering perspective will not be considered). Broadly understood this categorisation gives scope for a wide range of topics and approaches examining the role of mobility in social life and its territorial and environmental implications. Through the New Voices awards we hope to give visibility to and encourage work that is in line with this agenda.

The Mobile Lives Forum research program is based on two questions:

- Understanding: How do we experience mobility today?
- Acting: What transition policies do we need to develop in order to move towards more desirable and sustainable mobilities?

Submissions to participate in this initiative are made through supervisors. The supervisor is invited to submit a short article written by the student as well as that student’s thesis or dissertation to the Mobile Lives Forum (see below for details regarding the format). The thesis must have been defended between September 2016 and December 2020.

The Mobile Lives Forum and its scientific director Vincent Kaufmann will award a total of ten prizes, 200 Euros for master's students and 500 Euros for PhD students or young doctors.

The short articles written by the prize recipients will be published in the Forum’s website, and each publication will be included in the English and French editions of its newsletter.

Examples of the selected theses and dissertations from the first award can be found here.

The submission deadline is 1 December 2020.

Submissions of research in French should be addressed to Thomas Evariste (thomas.evariste@sncf.fr)

Submissions of research in English should be addressed to Javier Caletrió (javier.caletrio@forumviesmobiles.org)

Good luck!
